

Dr. Raman Kumar Trivedi, did his B.F.Sc. and M.F.Sc. from UAS, Bangalore and Ph.D. in 1997 from Rajasthan Agriculture University, Udaipur. He has undergraduate and postgraduate teaching experience of 30 years. His major area of research interest is Limnology, Aquatic Environment Management and climate change adaptation strategies. He was Prof and Head Dept of Aquatic Environment Management at WB University of Animal & Fishery Sciences, Kolkata for more than 10 years. He Has been closely involved with student management programmes as In-charge Academic cell and now as Director Students Welfare since last 3 years. He has more than 50 research papers published in reputed National and International journals to his credit besides he has presented a number of papers at various national and International conferences/Symposia. Has also chaired technical sessions in National and International Symposia. He has/edited 2 books and written 5 book chapters, technical reports and delivered more than 25 invited. lectures. He has already completed six ICAR and MOEF research projects as PI &/Co-PI. He has also done overseas funded research and consultancy projects funded by GIZ, Germany. Dr Trivedi has carried EIA related consultancies for many industries and public sector cos. He has developed a protocol for “Climate Resilient Aquaculture Strategy for Coast Areas of West Bengal”. Dr Trivedi has been identified by MOEF as expert for consultation for making plastic free coastal zones. As team leader He has been instrumental in identifying “Critical Vulnerable Coastal Areas” of West Bengal and Odisha coast and its management strategies. Dr. Trivedi has played a pivotal role in developing high quality teaching and laboratory facilities in the college and department at West Bengal University of Animal & Fishery Sciences, Kolkata. Has ample experience in academic and research planning and execution.

Considering his expertise Dr. Trivedi was nominated by ICAR as a member of the ICAR-BSMA committee on Fisheries to revise PG and Ph.D. syllabus. Dr Trivedi is member of Bihar state Wetland Management Authority. He is also the Visitor’s nominee in the governing body of Central University of Nagaland.